Entered as second class matter at the post office at Pioche, Nev., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

The Financial Review in this weeks issue gives a brief review of the mining conditions in Nevada, and from the resums, a general review of mining activity is shown throughout the State. Nevada is once more focusing favorable attention upon the apparently inexaustable mineral resources of this proliferous region, producing properties have accelerated production at a phenomenal rate. Potential producers are rapidly being brought to a point of actual production, giving every promise that the gradually unfolding "boom" will extend to unparalleled proportions.

That there is a reason for this activity there can be no doubt, according to the best available statistics, the time of the close of the Pittman Act is less than 18 months off, when the price of silver may have to depend upon the worlds market price which the buyers of silver of the old world will keep as low as possible in an attempt to keep the metal on a commodity basis which would no doubt be very much below the dollar mark.

The time has arrived for the mining interests of the Pioche districts to speed up and get in the line of production to furnish their proportion of the Pittman purchase, which according to the latest reports are less than $2,000,000 ounces.

On account of the high rates on the district ores to Smelter points, Pioche has been handicapped for the past year and conditions for development not the most encouraging, all of which has been obviated by the new rates recently granted by the Union Pacific System to Utah Smelter points. As a result nearly all of the old producers are making a great effort to get back to the old basis of operation. The Amalgamated Pioche, the Prince Consolidated, the Combined Metals and several local properties are getting lined up for operation which will add to the local tonnage and in connection with the Bristol Silver and the Jack Rabbit camps will bring the camp back to the old time place as one of Nevada's big producers of silver and lead.

Congress

Mr. Huskey is a university law man, a successful member of the Nevada bar, and an expert on the law of irrigation and water rights.

He is an experienced parliamentarian, having been a lecturer on parliamentary law for twenty years.

He has had wide legislative experience as a member of the Nevada Assembly for two years and of the Senate for four years.

He fought for equal suffrage and helped to gain for Nevada women their full rights in property and equality with men before the law.

He drew, introduced and secured the passage of Nevada's first Employers Liability Act; he worked for weeks in helping to perfect our Industrial Insurance, enlarging the payments and extending the time through which the payments run; and he has always been a worker for those things which advance the interests of the working people.

He will work for the Boulder Canyon and other reclamation projects and will further any other legitimate proposals for bringing people and wealth to Nevada, thus permitting greater distribution of tax burden.

The voters of Reno and Washoe county, in 1914, sent him to the State Senate by the greatest majority on the Democratic ticket. He made good all his election promises.
